BRIDGE BOOSTER ORGANIZATION IS
- PUT IN MOTIONSouth Connellsville and Dunbar John Hands: Want
Outside Assistance.

W. S. TREVITT PRESIDENT

Every Effort Will Be Made to Convince Grand Jury New Highway to Uniontown, Eliminating Grade Crossings, Has Become Necessary.A group of enthusiastic men of South Connellsville and Dunbar boroughs, with the one aim of opening up a direct route from the east to the west via these boroughs by the erection of a bridge across the Youghioghe-ny River at South Connellsville, met in the borough hall there Friday night and took the first steps toward getting the big project under way.Preliminary plans have already been completed by a committee of the primary nature. W. S. Trevitt, Washington, D. C., David Worthington and J. S. Davis. The petitions have already been placed in circulation, an attorney has been retained, and an engineer will draw up plans, of the present. Connellsville to Uniontown route and the new proposed one, showing the advantages of the latter.
Friday night's meeting was for the purpose of forming an organization to not only back the movement and push it through to a final decision, but also to have a time, more opportunity than right now, was the sentiment of the committee. About 30 persons attended the session, practically all of the local councilmen, both of the boroughs being present.Mr. Hurd acted as temporary chairman and relinquished the chair following the election of Mr. Trevitt. J.
S. Davis was elected permanent secretary and David Wertheimer, permanent treasurer. A committee of three from each council represents the majority of the bridge organization.
Those from Dunbar are B. T. Warner, W. C. Jacobs and W. S. Mair. South Connellsville's representatives are G. W. Snyder, W. L. Moorman and G.
P. Burkhardt."We are going to take into Uniontown the biggest petition that was ever presented there for anything," Mr.
Trevitt declared. "We have never had anything like for years and we are never going to let anything like a fight for it. We are going to show that a bridge across the river here will eliminate seven or eight dangerous grade crossings on the present route."South Connellsville council had contributed $100 to the fund, Mr.
Trevitt said. The remainder of the amount needed to finance the project which will be close to $700, will be secured through public subscription of those interested. Petitions for signers are being circulated at South Connellsville and Dunbar. It is expected 5,000 to 6,000 names will be affixed to these papers before they are presented in court.It was pointed out that the Connellsville bridge was becoming inadequate to handle the traffic. Street cars cross it every seven minutes, and with automobiles increasing every year remedial steps will soon be needed there, it was held.Attention was called to the fact that it was likely the county commissioners will say they do not have the money to build such a bridge. The petitioners intend to make their demand so strong that an effort will have to be made to find the funds.
Connellsville, it was held, will stand behind the movement as a possible relief for the congestion which now chokes its streets.Dunbar and South Connellsville were pictured as little towns unable to expand because they were in a hole with only a single exit, hampering expansion. Another remark was made to the effect that for every vehicle that passes over the Masonston bridge, recently built, it will pass over the proposed structure.Mr. Trevitt said by a "surprise" W.
G. Koffer was going to get the name of every taxpayer in South Connellsville on the petition by making a house-to-house canvass. Dunbar already has about 100 signers, it was reported."We are going to show the grand jury that we want this bridge and really need it," Mr. Trevitt said.
The treaty will be 961 feet long and cost some money, but we are going after it and won't be denied."An effort to interest the Youghioghe-ny Automobile Club, Connellsville Council, the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs will be made.Another meeting to hear reports on how the circulation of the petitions is going on, will be held on Friday, October 10, at Wertheimer Garage in Green street.Kills Mother-in-Law.

SPY THEORY PERSISTS

Passages Under Washington Begun in 1905 or 1906, Harrison G. Dyer Explains, Saying He Sealed Them 10 Years Ago; Small Son Helped Him.By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The great Washington tunnel mystery, which was rolling along at breakneck speed, threatening to become an international sensation, suddenly developed a flat tire with the admission of a gray-bearded scientist of the Smithsonian Institution that he dug the tunnels 20 years ago "for exercise."The origin and first purpose of the tunnels thus is explained, but the tenacity of the labyrinth since he sealed it up 10 years ago, the litter of German newspapers and the provision of bottles, gives life still to stories of spies and bootleggers.Harrison G. Dyer, Smithsonian entomologist, says he is the man who dug them. "I did it for exercise," he said. "Digging tunnels after work is my hobby."Dyer said he started digging the tunnels in 1905 or 1906 when he resided in the neighborhood in a house which has since given way to an apartment building. Like a mole he dugged his way through the earth, digging out a little at a time with his then small son as his only assistant.Planners Not Sure Of Stand in Order
Halting Milk PlantWork on the installation of a pas-teurizing plant in its milk station on the South Side was halted by the City Planning Commission at its meeting Friday night when the case of Dairy man W. H. Baer, was laid before it.
The commission is not sure of its jurisdiction in the matter and desires to make further investigation before handing down a decision.Work on the plant had previously been ordered stopped by Mayor G. C.
Mittell on complaint of residents of the neighborhood, who said the work bothered them. Mr. Baer explained he intended to remedy this by making his stack higher. He said the plant would not make any more noise than the furnace in a residence.Other routine business was transacted by the commission and several building applications, most of them for private garages, were approved.President of Law

Relinquishes PostBy United Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—Joseph M. Steele today tendered his resignation as president of the Law Enforcement League of Philadelphia because of the telegram William J. Donovan, son, J. J., secretary of the organization, sent to President Coolidge, demanding executive action in the row between Mayor Kendrick and Director of Public Safety Butler.Steele condemned the telegram which threatened to disclose corruption among federal office holders in Pennsylvania unless President Coolidge intervened in the municipal struggle, as a "very foolish and unwise communication." Meanwhile other officers in the league continued to prepare for a monster meeting Monday night to allow citizens to publicly demonstrate they are in favor of the retention of General Butler.Troops Defending of his illustrious father? Thus far their lives have been nearly parallel.

ON $1,000 REWARD FOR CHIEF RAE'S SLAYERGREENSBURG, Sept. 27.—Thomas Trimbale, formerly of Greensburg, an employee of Thomas Connor & Sons, contractor, on a construction job at English, W. Va., and Deputy Sheriff Brooks Beaver of Macdonald county in the same state will split the $1,000 reward offered by bills for the capture of Jim Scott, negro slayer of Chief of Police George Rae of West Newton.Mr. Trimbale had his home town newspaper follow him into the mountain construction camp. He read of the murder of Chief Rae which took place in the early morning of September 16. He knew the colored man, for Scott had formerly been employed by the contractor. When the negro boomed up at the construction camp last Monday and asked for a job Mr. Trimbale recognized him as the wanted man.Scott was detained. Trimbale communicated his suspicion that the slayer of the West Newton police chief was in the camp, to his chief.
He in turn got in touch with Sheriff W. J. Hatfield. The sheriff detailed Deputy Sheriff Beaver to the job.
The two men arrested the negro murderer.Realizing that he had mortally wounded the officer, the negro, following the shooting, he told the officers, went to the back of his house down to the river and waded in the stream. Then he came out and ran toward the reservoir. Later he entered a corn field. He remained on a hill top watching the camp until Wednesday morning. From that point the prisoner came to Hermant, and later to Greensburg.In Greensburg, the negro again changed clothing. He says he rode to Pittsburgh. There he bought a ticket for Columbus. He stayed in Columbus from Thursday until Sunday night, then decided to strike out for himself and caught a ride from Columbus to Circleville, Ohio. There he took a train for Williamsport, W. Va. From that point he was obliged to walk until a freight train came along and he rode to Eagle.
After leaving the freight, he walked six miles on Monday to Barkley, W. Va.
It was at this point that he was arrested by the McDowell county deputy sheriff.POLICE FEAR FRANK ROSHEK
MAY BE DEADBy United Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Although romantic tales of travel, vision of strange lands and the storm-swept seas may have taken Franklin Roshek, 14 years old, son of wealth, from his parents' luxurious apartments in New York, police today are pointing to the grave similarity between the boy's continued absence and the disappearance of Bobby Franks.It was a young hunchback hobo of obscure address, a street corner acquaintance, who told visions in Franklin's mind, took him to the foot of Riverside Drive, pointed to the ships at anchor in the river and told him of playgrounds around the world, open only to the seafarer. This much has been learned from Michael Levy, 11, a chum, who has told of Franklin's acquaintance with the hunchback.
His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roshek, have been distracted since Tuesday when the youth left for school and did not return in the evening. For three days wharves, parks, railway stations, and even more remote possibilities have been scoured and no trace of the boy has been uncovered. His father, a buyer for a western drygoods house, has ordered a nation-wide search.Dawes Is Deeply

ABOARD DAWES' SPECIAL, en-pleased with his reception in Minnesota Charles G. Dawes headed for Wisconsin and Robert M. La Follette's home town today. Since Senator La-Follette is the only one of his opponents General Dawes has assailed by name in the campaign so far there is great interest in what the Republican nominee will say about La-Follette at Madison, on Monday.

Dawes said he was going there.
His aides said he was going into Wisconsin with great confidence.
Walter H. Newton, Minneapolis congressman, said the election given General Dawes in Minnesota, were "significant."Brazilian Revolt

IS STILL A CLOSE RACE

Between the Conservatives and Rad-

Of Republicans and Democrats in Keeping Voters Safely in the Fold.By DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright, 1924, by The Courier.ENROUTE TO SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Coming out of the northwest after a tour of Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Washington and Oregon, the presidential contest appears at the moment to have this curious characteristic—hardly anyone agrees that the result, if the election were held tomorrow, would be the same as it will be on election day.The drift toward the LaFollette-Wheeler ticket was first to get under way. The third party supporters are making more noise and seem to be more active than their opponents.
But they have reached their peak in strength. And at the moment there is enough for them to carry virtually all of the northwestern states with the exception of Oregon. It is, therefore, a question whether La-Follette holding his own against the disparate battle being waged by the Coolidge forces to recover lost ground.John W. Davis is at present writing third in the race in the states after-mentioned but his strength is developing every day. Unquestionably his spirited reply to Harry Laughlin won him votes in this region, for what Davis said is regarded as Republican in its directness and rehem-ence.Whatever Davis can do really is the key to the whole situation, for there is little doubt now that the La-Follette party has made its gains from the Democrats. If Davis can recover Democratic votes in the Northwest, but the Democrats by a curious combination of circumstances are working hard to bring that about. On the contrary there are local issues in several states which tend to make the Democrats trade their support for LaFollette in exchange

WILL GO TO COOLIDGE; IS A SAFE PRESIDENTBy United Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—One of the most significant developments of the campaign here has been the rallying of labor behind President Coolidge.
Henry W. Blumenthal, general representative of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters & Joiners of America, with headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind., has joined the executive committee of the Coolidge Non-Partisan League.Mr. Blumenthal has just reached New York from a business trip which took him to the coast, and he reports that labor everywhere is joining hands to continue Coolidge in the White House. On his arrival here Blumenthal issued a public statement as follows:"The majority of the labor vote will go to Mr. Coolidge, and this for a number of reasons. Under President Coolidge labor has been rewarded with the highest wages in the history of the nation, and, in addition, has been continuously employed. Our country has been prosperous under Mr. Coolidge. Labor naturally stands for a continuation of this prosperity, which means prosperity for us in the labor ranks. The viewpoint of labor is that Mr. Coolidge is a safe and good President, and that it is in the country's interest to elect him in November."At Opening of New football fans went to Morgantown, W.

game of West Virginia University meeting West Virginia W. Bryan. In the game will be John Moore, guard for West Virginia, a former local high school star.Among those who will be in the crowd expected to fill the new stadium, in new for 1924, are Stephen Brinkley, 65 years old, of Boston, who is employed at the University, and adapted to the Memorial Hospital at Mount Pleasant, suffering from a back injury last year. A pig fell on his back and he has not been able to move since.

New Wright-Metzler

Store for Men Is

Formally Opened

"The Man's Store," a new branch of the Wright-Metzler Company, in Crawford avenue, east of the main store, held its formal opening last evening from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. Guests filled through the rooms, studies, viewing the latest in men's styles. They were greeted by the personnel of the staff which will be in charge of the new store. Those included Warren L. Wright, general manager, Clyde Huss, manager of the clothing department, and Frank Beatty who is in charge of the men's furnishings and shoe departments.

Two beautiful show windows, devoted exclusively to men's apparel, made unusually attractive by lighting effects, first greeted the eye. Just inside the door are found the counters and shelves filled with men's furnishings. Next comes the shoe department and in the rear is the men's and boy's clothing department.

On the second floor lounge of all descriptions will be found. An addition, 55 feet in length, was built to the original building, formerly occupied by the Fashion. The whole section is devoted to clothing. There is nothing in the store except apparel for the male sex, but women who buy for their husbands and sons are extended an invitation to inspect the quarters.

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—For the first time in the campaign all three Presidential candidates were in Washington but it did not appear that their paths would cross.

The President had no political engagements of any consequence for the day, his schedule calling for a tour of the house paying machinery of the Government and a possible trip down the Potomac on the Mayflower.

Dunbar Township High Is Opening Football Season With Confluence Eleven

Coch H. N. Basom Will Send Scrappy Squad Into Game at Trotter.

HAS STRONG BACKFIELD

The Dunbar Township High School football season opens this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Trotter field with Confluence High as the attraction. Enthusiasm is running high and a record crowd is expected to witness the tilt. Coach H. N. Basom will lead his strongest line-up into the fray. The backfield is exceptionally strong, with six experienced men as candidates for the posts, while four new boys are showing promise. Only three experienced backs will be found on the line, while there are 10 candidates who are expected to tear up things in the tilt.

Although Coach Basom is not boasting or predicting anything as to the ability of the team, he claims that any outfit that will line up against his eleven will know that they were in a football game. His squad is composed of the "scrappy" men in the coke region.

The candidates for the line positions are: Sam, J. Blakely, W. Hudkins, S. Hudkins, Work, Gillespie, Thorne, W. Blakely, Huns, Gaudin, Lerner, H. Smith, Dunbar and Fritchard. Those who are striving for the backfield posts are: Zaka, Landy, more, Shallenberger, Ball, Herron, W. Smith, Rudenko, Swaney, Yourish and Robertson.

Although the line-up that will begin in the tilt today will not be the best available, Coach Basom expects to give everyone a chance.

A cheer practice was held at the school yesterday at noon. Victor Matko, Mary Emerson, Belle Adams and Anna Muder were selected cheer leaders. W. E. Lott, principal of the high school, gave a talk and instructed the students regarding today's game.

The squad completed its heavy workouts on Thursday. Signal practice and black board drilling was the feature yesterday. J. C. Stremmer is another aide on Coach Basom's staff.

North Union Ties In Grid Opener

North Union springs a surprise in the opening game of the county grid games yesterday by holding the strong Brownsville eleven to a 0-0 score at Brownsville. Gorman township had things its own way and easily swamped Point Marion, 35 to 0. South Union High School played the Smithfield Independents and was easily defeated, 19 to 7.

Today the majority of the schools, colleges and other educational institutions are trying out the football. East Huntingdon will clash with Uniontown, Dunbar township with Confluence, and Conneltsville with Mount Pleasant. Reisterstown will not open the season today. New Kensington is cancelling the tilt.

Cokers Meet Mt. Pleasant H. S. Today

The Conneltsville High School football team—looking like a different outfit than that which opened the season last Saturday against West Newton—is scheduled to meet the Mount Pleasant High team this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The visitors will be accompanied by a big delegation of fans, it is indicated, and if the weather is favorable one of the largest crowds ever witnessed at an early season game may attend. There are many persons who have not yet seen the locals, about whom so much has been heard, and they want to be on hand if rain does not interfere.

DIVADIA BASEBALL SEASON WILL COME TO END NEXT WEEK

Next week will wind up the season for the Divad's Independents. Manager Peter C. Abate announced last evening that he has abandoned the proposed "world series" for the proposed amateur championship of Fayette county as the season is closed for the majority of the clubs.

Although only one game is billed for the week the manager is expecting to play two games on home grounds. From present indications it is believed that Star Junction will play one of the games at Dickerson Run Monday the Divad's play at Star Junction.

The game will be a benefit for the family of the late Charles H. Williams, well-known ball player, who died more than one month ago. This is the second "benefit" tilt between the two clubs. Mr. Williams was better known as "Chick". The game will get under way at 4 o'clock in order to give fans a chance to see the action.

The Young Valley outfit expects to send its "stars" into the game as the Junction club is expected to present one of the strongest lineups of the season into the combat. Monroeville will do mound duty for the tri-town nine.

Manager Abate, in announcing the abandonment of the "world series" claimed that he didn't want to fool with a club that could not carry out "written" contracts just as well as "spoken" documents. He claims that Allison wouldn't play his club on Thursday because they could not get the stars of the Pleasant Valley League lined up against the tri-town club.

New Records Expected at Air Carnival

By United Press
DAYTON, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Air craft of every description and scores of pilots of world-wide reputation are due at Wright Field October 3, 4 and 5 for the annual renewal of the International Air Races. Already the temporary hangars at the field are filling up with speed planes and the whir of testing motors is beginning to replace the droning of carpenter's hammers in front of the mile-long grand stand.

New speed records for a dozen or more distances are anticipated and officials of the International Air Races say the program of special air carnival events is unprecedented.

As usual, interest in the heavier-than-air speed events centers in the Pulitzer race against time the winner of which will get the $10,000 prize. The "On to Dayton" race, a preliminary of the International Air Race program proper, is attracting the attention of amateur pilots throughout the country. This event closes at midnight October 3. It is open to anyone who can fly a ship.

Entrants will fly to Dayton from any point in the country and the winner will be judged on points as to speed, distance, weight, gasoline consumed and the cost of the trip.

Two entrants in the On to Dayton race are Ralph Dickman, 68, of Chicago, the oldest licensed pilot in the country and Ted McMillan, 16, of Wichita, Kan., America's youngest aviator of recognized ability.

The three-day program calls for 12 major races in which more than 200 are entered. Pilots have been made to meet 200-300 persons in the huge grand stand and bleachers at the field.

FAYETTE COUNTY ATHLETIC BODY TO HAVE MEETING

A meeting of the Fayette County Athletic Association will be held in the dining room of the Uniontown Y. M. C. A. next Thursday evening. The association will reorganize for the year.

The basketball committee will be appointed and instructed to report within a month. It is possible there will be a revision of the high school rules of the county this season in view of the fact that Uniontown and Conneltsville have resumed athletic relations and may participate in basketball games. A report will also be made by the football committee.

The meeting will be called promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

Lead of Senators Cut Down as Yanks Win Over Phillies

The Washington Senators are leading the American League pennant race by one game. Defeat of the Nats yesterday by the Boston Red Sox while the New York Yankees were trimming the Phillies cut the lead to the narrow margin.

Each team has three more games to play. If Washington wins its trio nothing can keep the club from perching on top of the league. If, however, Washington loses one more and New York wins the remainder of its clashes, a tie will result.

In the National League there were 20 games of importance today. Brooklyn and Boston meet and the Giants clash with Philadelphia.

Jimmy Robertson, Carnegie Tech's great star, failed to pass the physical examination at West Point, and will not be with the army squad as a result.

Among veteran chess devotees of prominence is Fred W. C. Crane of Morristown, N. Y. He is in his eighty-second year and learned to play at the age of ten.

Impossible to Keep Baseball Fan Down

George Phair led one which proves you can't keep a baseball fan down. A certain ball player was teasing up one morning at Jackson park in Chicago and there was quite a crowd around watching the goings on.

Up stopped the ball player with all of the confidence that he might display at the plate. He adjusted the little pellet on the tee, held himself into several knots and then cut loose with a terrific swing.

The ball took a puny little hop and came to rest about 20 feet from the tee. For a moment silence hovered over the gathering of onlookers. Then came a deep voice from the gallery. "Run 'er out, Bill! Run 'er out!"

Sporting Squibs

Most professional wrestlers have imaginative press agents, because it is so easy to throw the ball.

The oldest golf course in the world is that of Blackheath, near London, England, the date being 1550.

Henry Bassett, member of the University of Nebraska football team for the last three seasons, will play professional football next fall.

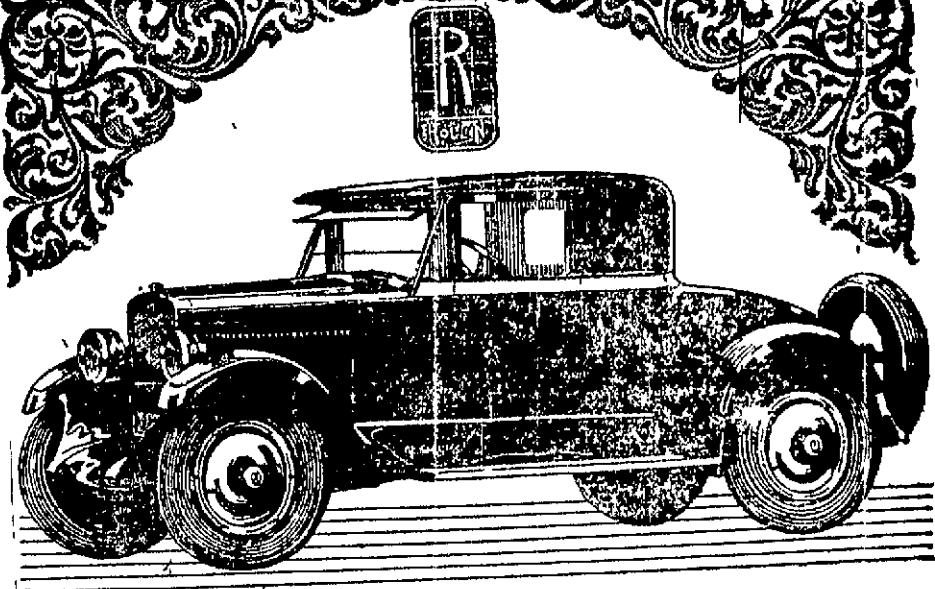

The first women's yachting championship ever held in America is to be conducted in Hull bay, Massachusetts, the first week of September.

The wise ones of the fighting game are generally of the opinion that Al Bach, in going to Buenos Aires to meet Firpo is traveling a long way to get a beating.

The police have prohibited the holding of boxing matches in Vienna. They allege that such contests cause a waste of money and keep young people away from work.

Soccer Is Money-Maker

The report of the Aston Villa soccer football club of England for the season just closed gives a side light on the receipts of a first class team. The club made a profit of $18,705 on the season and the balance in the treasury was $148,790. The gate receipts amounted to $275,615, of which $48,185 was deducted for entertainment tax. Players' wages, home benefits and transfers of players cost $72,800.

My baby girl had a sore eruption break out on the top of her head. In spite of all I did it spread to her ears and formed water blisters. After a while the water blisters broke and the trouble spread to her cheeks. I had to tie her hands to keep her from scratching. The trouble lasted over a year.

I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some. After using them I could see an improvement so continued the treatment, which healed her. (Signed) Mrs. Dita Bell, Meachoppen, Pa., Feb. 11, 1934.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

The Question of "Why"

Oro Mother Says: I believe in teaching children the "why" of things, but not when they ask way after being told to do a certain thing or not to do it. When it's a matter of securing obedience I do not explain my reasoning to them. Of course they cannot see things from an adult viewpoint and they are sure to express a difference of opinion, thereby starting an argument which ends in loss of influence. When I tell my child to do a thing he asks why, and I say, "When you have done it I'll tell you why." Copyright National Newspaper Service.

Pittsburg Paper Assails Owner for Failure of Pirates

Pittsburg baseball fans do not take kindly to the Pirate team "blowing" another pennant, when it was just about won. And, at last, at least one newspaper, had something emphatic to say, directing its shaft at Daney Dicytusa, the owner. Writing in the Post, Regis M. Welch says in closing a lengthy article:

"The Pirates have failed for the fourth time. Another year is coming, a year fraught with uncertainties. But the plan now on foot seems to be to get rid of those who fail to fit in with the policy on and off the field. Grimm is slated to go because he failed to make an exhibition trip to Saratoga when under a doctor's orders to stay at home; Cooper, who pitched an exhibition game and then went out and won more games than any pitcher on the club must pay for a rift in the club morale occasioned by a wordy battle in Philadelphia some years ago. Schmidt must go because he was alleged to be sulking in his tent when a doctor in St. Louis proved by an X-ray that he really had a broken finger."

"Caylor will be kept because he gives the best service for the least amount involved; the same for Moore. "And so it goes. But the club owner whose direct and indirect interference with the club in its efforts, remains to get another chance to foist onto the public the promise that next year maybe there will be a ball club which again can stay in the race, draw a million or more cash fans through the gate—and then blow up."

The retirement of Elshoe, Morrison and Barnhart also is forecast. Of McKoonie, the manager, the article says:

"The manager may be retained, that so far is uncertain. But if he is, it will only be because he can take orders, either by word or mouth or telegraph on how to handle his players."

BEFORE BABIES WERE BORN

Mrs. Oswald Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardenville, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my last two babies came. It keeps me in perfect health and I am on my feet getting meals and doing all my housework until an hour before the baby is born. A friend told me to take it and I have used ten bottles since I heard about it. I recommend the Vegetable Compound whenever I can. Just yesterday a friend was telling me how miserable she felt, and I said, 'If you start taking Lydia E. Pinkham's you will feel fine.' Now she is taking it."—Mrs. P. J. Oswald, 415 E. Broadway, Meadville, Pa.

Mrs. Nicola Paluzzi Says Meadville, Indiana.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness before my babies were born. I was weak and tired out all the time and it helped me. When I had inward inflammation the doctor treated me, but it did not help me, so I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Sensitive Wash and it helped me right away. I will always have your medicine."—Mrs. P. J. Oswald, 415 E. Broadway, Meadville, Indiana.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

It is a wise plan to budget one's canned fruit and vegetables, making a note of the amount used during the season and the supply left over, thus the family may enjoy the freshest fruits and vegetables, spending them over the weeks when fresh things are not to be had, and have plenty to last until spring.

MORE RECIPES FOR WINTER

If you have an abundance of small tender carrots, cold pack a few jars of them for winter use. Scrub them, boil five minutes and plunge them into cold water, then fill quart jars. Cover with boiling water, add one teaspoonful of salt. Put on new rubbers, partial ly seal and boil one and one-half hours to water to well cover the tops of the jars. Remove and seal immediately.

A simple mustard pickle which is easy to prepare and which will keep until the last cucumber, is prepared as follows:

Mustard Pickles.—Wash the cucumbers, and if gathered from one's own garden they may be added to the pickle daily, a few at a time. Take one cupful of dry mustard, one-half cupful of salt, and one-fourth cupful of sugar to one-half gallon of goose vinegar. One may add spices if liked, and an onion or two for flavor. When all the cucumbers are in, put them into jars, cover with the pickling brine and seal. These are put up cold. The cucumbers never lose their fresh crispness and are always good. Use small sized cucumbers for pickling, an inch in diameter is a good size.

Mixed Mustard Pickle.—Prepare five quarts of vegetables which may include cauliflower separated into florets, small green tomatoes sliced, button onions small whole cucumbers or cut into thin slices, such one quart one bunch of celery, six green peppers cut into strips, butter beans and very small carrots if liked, may be added. Cover with cold water, adding one-half cupful of salt and let stand 24 hours. Bring to the boiling point and remove from the fire. Mix one cupful of flour and mustard, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, and two quarts of vinegar; stir and cook until the flour is well cooked. Bring the vegetables again to the boiling point in the brine drain and put into jars covering with the paste. Seal in sterilized jars.

ANNUAL GAME OF TRYING TO BEAT BUDGET NOW ON

Director Lord and Hawk-Eyed Assistants Checkmate All Schemes.

SMALL CHANCE TO GET BY

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The great annual game of "trying to beat the Budget Bureau" is under way full blast here with Uncle Sam's dollars as the stake.
Every government department is trying to make its estimates of expenditures for the fiscal year beginning to July 1 next "stand up." The Budget Bureau, an aggregation of cold blooded monsters to whom a nickel looks like $20, are showing them it can't be done.
Estimates were submitted by the departments to the bureau shortly after July 1 last. President Coolidge had told the department and bureau heads in a speech on June 30, that he didn't want their combined expenditures next year to run over $1,800,000,000, exclusive of public debt retirement charges.
Did the combined estimates total less than that figure they did not. They ran several hundred millions beyond it. For years and years before the budget bureau was created (both Democrats and Republicans claim credit for the idea) the canny department heads figured their requests to Congress for appropriations would be cut in half anyway, so they doubled them in advance to make sure they got what they wanted. The idea persists in some quarters but the budget bureau is doing its best to stamp it out.
With this mass of bloated estimates in hand, General Lord, director of the budget, and his gang of hawk-eyed assistants, got busy. They took the President's figure, subtracted $100,000,000 from it for good measure and apportioned the remaining $1,700,000,000 among the several government services.
On August 12, all government departments got their preliminary estimates back from the bureau with a letter telling them that so much had been allotted to each, and please to get busy and pare the original estimates down to within the allotted figures.
History does not record what was said at the time but the monas are still audible in all quarters.
The Budget Bureau pays no attention to them and has gone ahead and fixed dates for the various department financial officers to come around and talk it over. One by one the department heads are being called into conference with Lord and the mangled and bleeding estimates are gone over and perhaps pruned some more. Lord's mind is all headed one way, toward less expenditures. Occasionally, however, a strong play by a department can get some deleted items put back in. The President is the final arbiter in all cases, and it is not unusual for a department to carry its fight to him.
Both President Harding and President Coolidge have made such appeals a long chance, however, by usually standing behind the Budget Bureau's views of things.
A cute trick which was popular among the departments for a while until discovered was to pruned absolutely essential expenditures far below what could possibly serve them, and allow the money so skimmed to some luxury or other. They figured that when their appropriations bill came up in Congress, it would be apparent that not enough money was being provided for essential matters and that the deficiency would be made up there, far beyond the reach of the budget bureau. They trusted that their "luxury" items would slip through. The scheme worked for a while until the bureau got wise and put a magnifying glass on every item, looked at it from all angles and through it.

The Soisson

Splendid characterization is achieved in the newest Halperin production for Associated Exhibitors release, "When a Girl Loves," at the Soisson. One scene in particular is that of Count Michael, the hero of the picture, played by Percy Marmont.

He appears first in all the regalia of nobility—handsome, proud, his position assured. There is always the germ of sympathy and kindness in his heart, however, engendered by his love of music and his genius for it.

After the revolution, Michael appears again—but as a new character. Physically, his youth has been swept away. He is now a wandering minstrel who brings little bits of happiness to the suffering people by the beauty of his voice. But, spiritually, he is the same Michael with pride of soul and nobility of heart registering through every action.

The Orpheum

"THE AGE OF DESIRE"—One of the most novel scenes ever shown in a playhouse is a feature of "The Age of Desire," a First National picture produced by Frank Borzage and which is now playing at the Orpheum Theatre.

The story, based on the McClure Magazine tale by Dixie Willson, calling for settings of splendor and luxury. Mr. Borzage spent several weeks securing California in a hunt for a mansion which would fulfill the requirements and what was more important, which had never been filmed before.

That he was successful is demonstrated by the remarkable bathing pool "shots." A pool was constructed right up to the Pacific edge, and shooting it was a massive landing down to the water's edge. Hundreds of real society bathers take part in the scene.

THE FINEST FRUITS NOW

The harvest season for the country's most important and finest fruits is now on. Our stores will be stocked regularly from carloads arriving every few days at our several distributing points. Every Fall more and more people look to us for their supplies of all varieties of apples, grapes, pears, peaches, plums, etc.—the fruits so universally used for canning, preserving, for making butters, jellies and jams, as well as for table use.

Prices depend upon the market, of course, but are always as low as it is possible to sell first class grades. The advantage, too, of large quantity buying make a difference. Our nearest store will deliver your purchase.

The Truant Soul

"That delusion, is part of your disease. No, John, you may have searched the suburbs districts of Avonmouth, but you can't have gone far, because every few months you would turn up at the institute, looking shabbier and more disreputable on each occasion, and more and more suspicious. And every time I tried to get you up and help you, I was sorry for you, and you knew it and traded upon my pity; I was ashamed by you, and you knew that and traded upon my shame."

Lancaster lunged his head; John held her hand lightly on his, and after that he continued to return Lawson's gaze steadily.

"I want to you, Jim Lawson," he said, "because I had placed you in charge of the institute when I elected to head the other branch of the trust fund, the Avonmouth hospital. I had given you the charge here because you were—"

"Your illegitimate half-brother," said Lawson bluntly. "We are not sinning our words. Because you robbed me of my own inheritance as your elder brother, by reason of the fact that my mother was not legally married to our father. Yes, go on."

"At last, John, I was broken down completely," continued Lancaster. "It was a mania, that search of mine, as I came to understand afterward, a perverted pride that had eaten into my heart and left no place for other thoughts. But I did not become addicted to morphine until this man urged it upon me, under the guise of medical care. And even then I could have broken off the habit at any time, but I had no heart to, and it gave me relief from thoughts that tortured me."

"So they all think," said Lawson. "It was he who told me that I could never break it off, who urged me to continue the use of it with sophisticated arguments which I had not the energy to oppose. I had been five years away from Avonmouth. The people at the Southern hospital believed me dead, and I did not undeceive them. I never meant to return. When I came here it was always by night, to this man whom I believed to be my friend, to avoid shaping our name in the eyes of Millville. Thus none ever saw us together, and Lawson and I resembled each other as much as we do today."

"More, I hope, John," sneered the other. "The life one leads tells as the years go by."

"Nobody in these parts had seen me since I was a boy. I had left home young, and studied at Johns Hopkins and abroad. Lawson had taken my name. The old neighbors had gone away, and if any of the country folks have long memories, they have close tongues, too. The matron and Jenkins are both newcomers. I had passed out of memory."

"This devil saw his chance and grasped at it," he went on with sudden vehemence. "Here was the famous Doctor Lancaster, a broken man, in outward, and believed in Avonmouth to be long since dead. And here was the Lancaster known to Millville and Lancaster village, at the head of this institute. Why shouldn't he get me to take his place here while he went to Avonmouth and claimed to be? Lawson was ambitious. He wanted to be something bigger than the superintendent of a little hill institute. And he wanted to get his fingers on the trust fund at Avonmouth. Do I wrong you?" he demanded, turning fiercely upon the other.

"Not in the least, you honor me," said Lawson, with a weary bow. "I wanted to take the fund out of your worthless supervision and devote it to proper uses."

"This must be stopped!" shouted Myers, with a sudden interruption. "Doctor Lancaster, you are saying things that you will regret tomorrow. You are turning to bite the hand that fed you. Where would you be today were it not for Doctor Lawson? A dead man in a pauper's grave!"

"He persuaded me, weakened as I was by morphine with which he had been dosing me," Lancaster resumed, without paying the least attention to the secretary. "He was to take my place in Avonmouth, while I could assume charge here, pretend to have an illness, which would account for any change in my aspect and character. Nobody would know the difference, and nobody has known the difference. Here, he told me, I could be free to brood over my unhappy life, while he, the clever schemer, taking up my past, could adapt it to his own. He convinced me."

John gasped as she began to understand the enormity of the crime. And it was true; she could read that truth in Lawson's face, his pride in the exploit. Lawson was actually smirking, as he had smirked in the operating theater.

"I consented, and he went away," said Lancaster, with a production of the months that followed is necessary a clinch one. I know, however, that I was in no state to take care of the funds. They disappeared, and I was accused of having embezzled them. If I did that I did it in my dream. "That's just the trouble with you, John," said Lawson. "You dream too much. The question is, what did you do with them? Bury them? You can't have spent thirty thousand dollars upon morphine."

"I have accepted and borne the burden of the guilt," cried Lancaster.

"This man Myers was placed in charge. Thereafter he was ever at my elbow, urging me upon the downward path. When I would make an effort to break off my habit he would whisper to me that my life was ruined, that the charge of embezzlement would be pressed if ever I returned to Avonmouth. He would advise me to take my drug and forget—"

"You are lying, you dreamer!" yelled the secretary. "You lie, and you know it!"

"When you came, John, I was all but hopeless. I had caught at your aid as my last hope, because that day you came to me your face looked good, and strong. Top, and you spoke so sincerely, and it was years since I had known anyone like you. And you seemed to have been sent to me."

"Religious hallucination," said Lawson, tapping his forehead significantly. "Nevertheless, John, could you see that he was growing uneasy as the plot was unraveled."

"It was a miracle, that meeting, one of those chances that seem reserved to uncover such conspiracies. For, though this man had stolen my name—and here a touch of pride was visible on Lancaster's face—"there was one thing he could not do. He could not perform the Lancaster operation, though he had picked my brains during the weeks in which he kept me here, a prisoner in one room. And so, from time to time, he compelled me to go to Avonmouth, under the charge of Myers, in order to operate. He laid down the regulations: I was to dress in a mask alone; I was to speak as little as possible and to leave hastily after I had finished my work. And he always sent me there with a full injection of the drug in my body. I was too weak to resist, too much under the thumb of Myers here."

GULBRANSEN

The Registering Piano

Real Piano Music—on the Gulbransen

The Gulbransen Registering Piano is an instrument played by music-roll and pedals, that you can play in a musical way, with all the expression and feeling you have.

To play what you will—as you will—when you will. To give full rein to all your undeveloped musical talent.

Just think what this means to you who have never learned to play by hand, or having once learned, have not had the time or opportunity to keep in practice! No tedious finger-ling! No long study!

Just think what the Gulbransen means to that musically-promising daughter—to that growing young son—to live in, and share in, such musical, homebuilding influences.

Real piano music? Yes. But, make this test yourself—

Try any simple piece on the Gulbransen. You will be delighted at the musical results you can get—so natural and pleasing. Then try an operatic air, or something more classical. You will be agreeably surprised how wonderfully well you can play it. Whatever kind of music you prefer—popular, semiclassical or classic—you will positively marvel at the personality and life you can put into anything and everything you play on your Registering Gulbransen.

states are beginning to see the wisdom of encouraging Democrats to vote for Davis rather than LaFollette. It would not be surprising if action along this line were begun in many cities where normally there are no Democratic clubs. They cannot convert these voters to Coolidge in the next best strategy is to keep them from LaFollette.

Incidentally the vice presidential race is attracting a good deal of attention, more in fact than usual. It is the only one of the contests of General Duwess or the Assembly of Senator Wheeler or the radiation of Bryanism, but on several occasions the writer has seen newspapers in the west displaying the names and pictures of the vice presidential nominees while the presidential candidates were sick away on inside pages.

In the last few days there has been a good deal more comment than usual about the Lorimer Bank controversy in which General Duwess is so completely implicated. The Oregon Journal for instance calls upon President Coolidge to ask General Duwess to withdraw from the vice presidential race.
